

Pathetic fallacy

Weather/ setting	What it suggests...
0:03 Dark, misty, gloomy street with boarded up houses.	A lonely place, neglected, cold and unwelcoming.
0:45 Brighter, daylight, birds chirping.
3:05 Dusky sunlight, gently rippling water, warm colours reflecting from the sun.	The houses are bonding and are happy. Everything is calm.
4:27 The ice on the lake glistens and sparkles as the trailer skates whilst the house watches it.
5:35 Particles of dust float around in the beams of sunlight that peep through.	A sense that....
6:18 Sunset in the distance, grey clouds move in, a tumbleweed rolls past, birds crowing above.
6:59 A hurricane, thunder and lightning.	The journey has changed. It is....
7:41 Dawn breaks, a beautiful coloured sky, gentle breeze, calm waters.
