

Tiny Texts - Reading

Look at the pictures and texts on the page. Using your imagination and knowledge of other stories, write a short paragraph to explain what you think this story might be about. What can you tell us about the characters, setting, events or themes? Are there any clues in the illustrations or language used? Are there any questions you want to ask? There is no right or wrong answer; we are not expecting you to make an accurate prediction, this is more about developing your prediction skills using clues in the images and text provided, just remember to use the word 'because' in your sentences, to explain your thinking.

Tiny Texts

The people had to know their fate. Perhaps Chac, the god of rain, would also hear and have mercy.

“Tomorrow,” came the echo, and all was still.

But before Pik could take a step, he was whisked into swirling clouds above.
