

This vocabulary work is linked directly to the book we are focussing on over the next couple of weeks. In your English books, write down each word, with either its correct definition (if you know it), or a prediction of what you think it might mean next to it or underneath it. Please also leave space for the actual definition, as we will discuss the meaning of these words further with their definitions tomorrow. Just be aware, that some of these are unusual as they have been taken directly from the text, so do not worry if they are very unfamiliar to you.
